I recall a "lessons learned" from Calfed lists in the Delta Vision reports - got measure results when spending $......everybody can't get what they want....

Tom - Would you take a shot at putting down some thoughts on the two CALFED questions - 2 and 3?
Let me know, and if so when. Because of all the clearances, sooner is better than later.

Thanks.

David

Letty and David:

I need your help drafting answers to the following questions received from Grace Napolitano as followup from the January 25 field hearing on California Water Supply issues. Per my agreement with Dionne, I need draft answers that you have helped me prepare and that you have approved by Friday March 5- basically two weeks from now. I'm not sure which one of you has the right background for which question. I see two ways we could do this- either (1) you guys can just draft answers and send them to me or (2) we can have a conference call next week where you download the information you want in the answers, I take a few days to draft it up into something like plain English, and then send them back to you for further editing, review, and hopefully approval. Let me know which method you prefer!!!!

These answers will be combined with other answers that Dionne's folks are preparing and then sent through the usual process which involves surnames from Mike Connor and Anne Castle followed by Departmental review (which will include FWS review), OMB review, and transmittal to the hill.

This will be fun....

Bella

Here are the questions:

- (1) Which Federal agencies are participating in the December 2009 Action Plan? Are they the same ones who signed the September 2009 Memorandum of Understanding?
- (2) Does the DOI have a plan for implementing the results of the NAS review?
- (3) What lessons has the DOI learned from the CALFED process that can be applied to the Bay Delta Conservation Plan?
- (4) What specific actions are required to ensure that the BDCP does not become CALFED II?
